Fred Weisensee, an unrepentant plant addict, is always on the lookout for a botanical fix. It is this passion for plants that in August of 1995 led him, and Leonard Foltz, to move back to Fred's boyhood farm to start Dancing Oaks Nursery. Fred's horticultural knowledge and experience show itself in the hands-on building of the Nursery and its gardens, visiting gardens far and near, writing hundreds of plant labels, and staffing the nursery as time allows. In addition, he maintains active membership in the International Plant Propagators Society, The Oregon Association of Nurseries, The Royal Horticultural Society, North American Rock Garden Society, Oregon Hardy Plant Society and the Salem Hardy Plant Society.
