Oregon Clean Power Co-op

Dan Orzech of the Oregon Clean Power Co-op met with members of the board to discuss possible investment of club money into their solar program which provides solar energy to nonprofit groups such as schools , churches and other nonprofits. The Co-Op is set up for individual investments with a minimum of $1000. During the presentation it was obvious that the group would like us to invest a minimum of $10,000 thousand dollars. Investors receive a APR of 4% and the principal and interest is paid back over 10 years.

Discussion: board members discussed that the money we have in the bank it's really not our money it's the club's money and would need membership approval. The expectation of a $10,000 investment also made investment impossible.

Action: Dan would contact Mr Orzech and tell him that although we think the idea is a great investment for individuals but it doesn't meet the needs of our club at this time.

Future garden club meetings. In person or on zoom.

October meeting would be on zoom. Kathleen volunteered to organize her pictures so that she could make a presentation.

Zoom meetings possible through the fall and winter speakers per Ruby Moon, Loree Bohl , Jessi Bloom! (sustainability), Jennifer's trip to Japan, bulbs for purchase and Donna Westwood doing a flower arrangement.
