President's Message:

February 2022 gardener greetings!

Last year I remember being able to work outside cleaning up garden beds during January because we had several really warm, sunny, days. Well, we've had the sunny but the warm is a distant memory. In spite of the cold winter weather, there's lots going on so I'll provide brief information.

Be sure to log on for the February membership meeting February 7th at 7 PM. In addition to the presentation by Dr. Hardison, Director of Oregon Flora, we will have three membership votes: Approve Heather Emberson as a voting member-at-large (our by-laws allow for this position), approve the dues increase from $25 to $30 for joint household memberships, and approve the January membership minutes.

The Grants Committee is alive and well! Svetlana Dascaliuc has agreed to chair the committee again and they have begun working. The board has approved a motion to allow the committee to provide grants totaling up to $3,000. Of course, final approval will be made by the board after the final grants are selected.

Included in the newsletter is information about a new fundraiser sponsored by Botanical Interests. This is so easy; just buy your seeds online and the club will receive a portion of the net profits. I've already received 6 seed catalogs so it's time to begin ordering.

The Fundraising Committee composed of Christina Clark, Kathleen Rochester, Melissa Cowan, Svetlana Dascaliuc, and me has begun the process of ordering new and interesting bulbs AND plants. Because we were inundated with Dahlia tubers last year, we ordered VERY few for this year but there were a few that we knew we couldn't live without. We considered our "charge" this year to offer the unusual, the new and gorgeous, so don't be tempted by what you see when shopping around town because you'll want to buy what we're offering. And of great importance, the net proceeds from these fundraisers provide funding for grants and club expenses.

Over the last several months we have realized our bylaws are lacking in several important areas. For example, our bylaws don't address what constitutes a quorum and, because of this lack, we have had to fall back to Robert's Rules of Order. In addition to updated bylaws, a Policies & Procedures document will be created so we don't "clutter" the bylaws with items that are occasionally changed, deleted, or updated to current practice. Nancy Mandel has agreed to chair this important committee.

I have accumulated observations and recommendations from fellow EGC members and I'll address them here. Are you interested in talking/hearing about favorite garden books? If so, I'll be glad to set up a special Zoom meeting so those that are interested can participate. If you're interested, send me an email – jkmagedanz@gmail.com – and I'll compile a list of interested people to contact to set up a Zoom date. How about a fall Tomato Gathering? The idea is to get together, bring your favorite tomatoes, and share them with others in attendance. I'll try to remember to bring this up later in the year so I'll be looking for someone to volunteer to host such a gathering. There has been a bit of "muttering" about losing out on freebies offered on Trumpetvine. The board discussed this and we have no solution. Sorry. Last on my list is the number of Trumpetvine emails. Our recommendation is if you want to email appreciation to the sender, just send it to the recipient don't send it on Trumpetvine. Of course, if you have additional information or a question, post that on Trumpetvine.

Lastly, if you have questions, concerns, ideas for future meetings, I'm an email away. Janet

"The love of gardening is a seed once sown that never dies." – Gertrude Jekyll

Your fundraising committee has been busy! A new seed sale partnership with Botanical Interests begins today--details in this newsletter.

We are also preparing for an on-line summer bulb sale which will launch mid-February, with bulbs to be delivered just in time for the first day of spring! Callas and cannas --both tall and dwarf; gladiolas of many colors and new glaminis -- shorter glads; tigridia, trilelia, tricyrtis, several eremurus, a giant colocasia, tuberose, just few bee-friendly dahlias -- and MORE! 27 items to choose from at competitive prices.

Enjoy some pretty pictures to whet your appetites!

General Meeting Minutes January 3, 2022

The meeting started at 7pm as a Zoom only meeting with Zoom managed by William Edge. Our guest speaker was Frédérique Lavoipierre, the education director at the Santa Barbara Botanical Garden and the author of Garden Allies: The Insects, Birds, and Other Animals That Keep Your Garden Beautiful and Thriving. She was introduced by Ruby Moon, EGC's head of programs. Frédérique Lavoipierre spoke on the lives and drama that goes on in our gardens among its inhabitants, much of it unnoticed unless you really stop and look. Predators, prey, parasites, and parasitoids live out their lives in our gardens. She urged us to plant natives and to tolerate the imperfections in leaves and flowers that will occur when we share our yards with other creatures. Our gardens will be healthier for it.

After the guest presentation the club had a business meeting. Nancy Mandel moved that KJ Lee be removed from the position as president of the Corvallis Evening Garden Club. Harriet Plumley seconded the motion. There was much discussion, including a presentation by KJ Lee before the motion was made. The vote was made via a Zoom poll. According to Roberts Rules of Order, for the motion to carry at least 50% + 1 of the club membership must vote and of those at least 2/3 must vote yes. Having 111 paid members on January 3, the minimum number of members necessary was 57. A total of 72 members participated in the vote. 65 voted yes, 3 voted no, and 4 abstained. Excluding the abstentions, 68 people voted with 96% voting yes and 4% voting no. The motion carried. Janet Magedanz will take over as president.

Quilts in the Garden

The Marys River Quilt Guild has invited Corvallis Evening Garden Club to participate in the preparation and management of this year's Quilts in the Garden event scheduled for June 18, or if inclement weather, June 25. This is an event that occurs in Corvallis every two years and has been attracting up to 500 visitors who come to view both the gardens and quilts displayed in them.

Our board has agreed that this can provide an excellent opportunity to show some of Corvallis' special gardens and raise some money for our Club. This year's gardens are all walking distance apart on Shady Oak Drive, east of Corvallis, alleviating transportation issues between gardens.

Our Club has committed to providing the following assistance to Marys River Quilt Guild for this event:

- 1) two hosts to work with two quilt guild hosts at each of four gardens,
- 2) help with ticket sales at the Benton County Master Gardener's booth at Saturday Farmer's Market days in May and June,
- 3) assist with planning where and how to hang quilts in the selected gardens, and
- 4) help with setting up and taking down signs along the route on the day of the event.

If you would be interested in volunteering for any of these jobs, please contact Harriet Plumley (h.plumley@comcast.net or 541-753-3722) or Jan Gustafson (jrgus357@icloud.com or 541-224-2459).

"OregonFlora: Your Resource for Plant Diversity Information"

By Dr. Linda Hardison

If you want to identify an unknown plant growing in our state, select native species for your garden, or study the distribution and diversity of plants across the Pacific Northwest, the OregonFlora program has what you need. OregonFlora shares information through its production of the 3-volume Flora of Oregon books and its interactive website, oregonflora.org. Learn about the wealth of knowledge that is being assembled to create these resources—the first state flora in over 60 years—and how you can use information to spark curiosity and heighten your appreciation and understanding of our precious botanical resources.

Linda Hardison is the director of OregonFlora and a research assistant professor in the Dept. of Botany & Plant Pathology at Oregon State University. She received undergraduate degrees in botany and marine biology at the University of Texas at Austin, and a Ph.D. in botany at University of Washington. Linda guides the OregonFlora program in its mission to share information about Oregon's plant diversity, largely through the production of a state flora in both book format and as an interactive website. Through OregonFlora, Linda creates partnerships with diverse stakeholders to explore biodiversity, working agricultural lands, and the use of native plant species in gardens and landscapes.

Corvallis Evening Garden Club Summer 2021 Survey Results

Over the course of the next several months, the Evening Garden Club newsletter will share portions of the Summer 2021 survey results. About 50 members responded to the survey. Here is the first vignette. Please enjoy!

The first question, Why did you join EGC, was an open-ended question with 44 responses, many responses containing multiple reasons. Answers were collapsed into nine topics, shown below, and the percent of respondents:

* Learn about plants, flowers & trees	43 %
* Love plants	23
* The garden tours	20
* New to town, but was in another garden club	9
* Learn about PNW gardening and meet other gardeners, fun	48
* Speakers	23
* Share plants	20
* Help others (flower therapy, grants)	9
* No particular reason	2

From these results, it appears we are a group of people who are interested in learning about all variety of plants, engaging with like-minded gardeners, seeing and sharing new experiences, helping others and having fun!

Just the kind of group we want to nurture and sustain! More next month.
