Corvallis, Oregon

2022 Summer Bulb-a-Palooza

Supporting community gardening grants and scholarships

Enjoy looking through this catalog, make your choices, then go to www.corvallis-evening-garden-club.org/current-sales/ to place your order online. Pay at pickup time, which should be on or about the first day of spring—March 20. We will let you know exact details when your order is confirmed.

Summer is a lovely time in the Willamette Valley and we can make it even lovelier by ordering the gorgeous bulbs and plants included in this catalog—all while supporting community gardening grants and even a horticulture scholarship at OSU.

We've tried to make the selections this year special, gorgeous, and sometimes at a very special price. Some of the offerings are in very limited quantities so if you are ready for something new and wonderful, don't postpone placing your order.

Please feel free to pass this catalog on to anyone interested; we don't want people to miss out on this opportunity.

Happy Gardening and Happy Shopping!!

Calla Lilies (Zantedeschia aethiopica)

Plant in full or partial sun

We're offering rhizomes WAY beyond the old-fashioned white has fiery orange, fluted blooms with deep red edges and speckled foliage. Plant it in full sun if possible and it will reward you with gorgeous blooms year after year.

Calla Lily 'Flame'

1 rhizome—$4.00 each

Calla Lily 'Picasso'

These unique blooms are white on the outside with a rich deep purple pink eye in the throat of the bloom. You that love purple need to buy this...and I know who you are!!

1 rhizome—$4.00 each

Calla Lily 'Schwarzwald'

The color reminds me of a nice glass of Cabernet Sauvignon! Consider one or more planted in a nice pot. Now THAT would be worth a second look when enjoying the garden.

1 rhizome—$4.00 each

Cannas

Plant in full or partial sun and they're deer resistant

Consider planting in pots

Canna 'Pretoria'

has stunning variegated yellow and green striped leaves and huge—HUGE—orange bi-colored flowers that attract hummingbirds and butterflies. It's "Beaver" orange. Height at maturity 36" - 48".

1 bulb (rhizome)—$3.00 each

Canna 'Stuttgart'

If Canna 'Pretoria' is too bright for you, this blossom is not as bright but the foliage is a lovely green and white to be planted in a shady area or in a pot, perhaps as a tropical house-plant. It's more expensive because it's not as readily available. Height at maturity 36" - 48".

1 bulb (rhizome)—$8.00 each

Canna (dwarf) 'Eric Neubert' is another lovely orange color with dark foliage in striking contrast. Height at maturity 20"

1 bulb (rhizome) - $3.50 each

Cannas, cont'd

Plant in full or partial sun

Consider planting in pots

Canna (dwarf) 'Happy Julia' has bold red flowers and dark green foliage burnished with bronze. I wonder who Julia was/is?? Height at maturity 20".

1 bulb (rhizome) - $8.00 each

Canna (dwarf) 'Lucifer'

is much nicer than its name. Who names these things??!! However, the blossom more than makes up for its name with its fire engine red and yellow blossoms. Height at maturity 20".

1 bulb (rhizome) - $3.50 each

Eremurus

The response to last fall's Eremurus sale was so large we're offering a selection of roots to plant now for next year's blooms

Excellent drainage or plant on a mound is advisable

Eremurus 'Cleopatra'

is a queen in the garden! Its common name is Fox-tail lily and this one has blue-green leaves with burnt orange blooms. Of course, plant it in full sun and it will grow tall and elegant. (You wouldn't expect anything else from a queen.) Expect the plant to grow 4–5 feet tall.

1 fleshy root—$10.00 each

Eremurus, cont'd

Eremurus 'Shelford Pink'

What a lovely shell pink it is! Eremurus are great naturalizers and will return year after year. Expect the blooms to reach 4–5 feet tall.

1 fleshy root—$11.00 each

Eremurus 'Tap Dance'

This Foxtail lily is worth dancing about when it is blooming. It's a gorgeous bright yellow and will grow to 4 feet tall creating a colorful plant that will wave around in the breeze.

1 fleshy root—$11.00 each

Dahlias

Because we offered so many last year, we've included only a few this year but they're worth including in your order and now you know why we had to include dahlias!! Shades of mauve and white speckle the petals of this showy powderpuff. It is a prolific bloomer and the 4–6" blooms sit atop 4' tall stems.

Dahlia 'Que Sera'

1 tuber—$8.00 each

Bee-friendly Dahlias

These three dahlias are singles with the open centers that pollinators need.
They would look great together!

Dahlia 'Dahlegria'

We included this dahlia because of its lovely dark purple foliage which sets off the bicolor blooms of red and bright gold on stems topping out at around 2 feet.

1 tuber—$8.00 each

Dahlia 'Sunshine'

is aptly named because of the golden sunshine-yellow blooms accented with orange centers. This lovely thing also has dark foliage that will set off the brightly colored blooms as they sit atop stems around 2 feet tall.

1 tuber—$8.00 each

Dahlia 'Pulp Fiction' - We've included this gorgeous dahlia because of its fiery red blooms and its shorter stature, probably topping out at around 1 foot. Because of its height, it will be great in pots—multiple pots or in the front of the border.

1 tuber—$6.00 each

One more Dahlia

One pollinator-friendly dahlia for the pink-purple people!

Dahlia 'Edge of Joy'

is a joy to behold! This daisy-like dahlia has a golden yellow center that bees and butterflies can't resist. The two-tone petals are snowy white, flushed with wine red and stand atop stems about 3 feet tall. Edge of Joy is an eyecatcher in the garden and its fresh, long-lasting blooms are a highlight in summer bouquets.

1 tuber—$7.00 each

Gladiolus

Glads make every garden bed and every table vase look full! For a striking flower show and stunning cut flowers, grow gladioli

Gladiolus 'Blue Isle'

Okay, what catalogs call blue and what I call blue are two different colors. However, it is still a gorgeous color and worth including in your garden.

10 corms—$5.00

Gladiolus 'Buggy'

We've included a close up picture so you can see the white florets with yellow centers. Stunning color combination for those of us who enjoy yellow in the garden

5 corms—$6.00

Gladioli, cont'd

Glads make every garden bed and every table vase look full! For a striking flower show and stunning cut flowers, grow gladiolus

Gladiolus 'Marengo'

a new introduction in striking burgundy red with a creamy yellow spot near the center of each bloom. Butterflies are huge fans of glads and so are we. These would look great in an arrangement with some of the brightly colored dahlias.

5 corms—$6.00

Gladiolus murielae

has lots of names including Abyssinian Gladiolus but we'll just call it gorgeous. They bloom in late summer or early fall. Plant the bulbs—yes, bulbs—about 5" apart to make a lovely good-sized clump.

Bag of 25 bulbs—$6.50

Gladiolus 'Passos'

Do I need to even say anything about the beauty of this glad?! It's a lush plum color with a deep purple center. That reminds me of a song from the 1950's! ("When the deep purple falls over sleepy garden walls." Some of you know the rest)

10 corms—$9 (and worth every dollar)

Gladiolus, cont'd

Glads make every garden bed and every table vase look full! For a striking flower show and stunning cut flowers, grow gladiolus

Gladiolus 'Anouk'

is a new magenta-purple large flowered gladiolus with a white throat and heavily ruffled florets. One of the lovely things about glads is you get weeks and weeks of blooms as the blooms open up the stalk.

10 corms—$5.00

Gladiolus 'Sogno'

A strange name for a lovely blossom. It's a pink-salmon blossom with a white throat. Gee, I think the glads on this page would look great together in a vase!

10 corms—$5.00

Glamini Gladiolus 'Lia'

This lovely peach and white bloom stands only about 2 feet tall, hence Glamini. Because of its reduced height it doesn't need to be staked.

5 corms—$5

Gladiolus, cont'd

Glads make every garden bed and every table vase look full! For a striking flower show and stunning cut flowers, grow gladiolus

Glamini Gladiolus 'Thomas'

Here's Thomas to keep Lia company. Thomas is another shorty, topping out at about 2 feet. Bright blooms as pictured with orangey-red leading to bright yellow centers.

5 corms—$5

To complete the selection of shorter Gladioli is Gladiolus Nanus (which means dwarf)

This mixture includes pink, peach, red, and white.

5 mixed corms—$9

Beautiful Temptations

We couldn't help ourselves! The following are a variety of special plants, limited availability

Alocasia plumbea 'Nigra'

What??? This is a very large-leaved perennial and the leaves are sooooo dark they appear nearly black. It's not hardy here so consider growing it in a pot or digging it in the fall but—oh that foliage!!

1 bulb—$25.00 each

Beautiful Temptations, cont'd

We couldn't help ourselves! The following are a variety of special plants, limited availability

Colocasia gigantea 'Thailand Giant'

Common name Elephant Ears and it is another tender perennial that needs special attention to survive our winters. However, it's worth growing just to hear what the neighbors say.

1 bulb—$20.00 each

Crocosmia 'Emily McKenzie'

Let me introduce you to a lovely Crocosmia that blooms with bright orange tubular flowers accented with a red halo-like ring surrounding a yellow throat. Its final height will be 30". Crocosmia make great cut flowers.

5 corms—$5.00

Daylily 'Pink Stripes'

is our only Daylily offering but we thought the blossom was too lovely to pass up. Pink Stripes is a new offering in a tie-dyed pattern. We're sure you Daylily lovers always have room for ONE more!

1 root—$12.00 each

We couldn't help ourselves! The following are a variety of special plants, limited availability

Echinops ritro

is a fabulous perennial that I (Janet) have grown for many years and, in the late summer, the pollinators spend all day enjoying the true blue prickly balls.

1 root—$4.00 each (and you'll want more than 1)

Hippeastrum sonatina 'Alaska' (Amaryllis)

This cold hardy amaryllis features double, pure white flowers with green centers. They don't grow as tall as the regular Amaryllis and will come back year after year.

1 bulb—$13.00 each

Hardy Geranium 'Summer Skies'

Hardy geraniums are terrific plants because the plants will be covered by lovely blooms and will bloom for weeks and weeks AND weeks. It's a tough perennial that comes back every year.

1 root—$16.00 each

Beautiful Temptations, cont'd

We couldn't help ourselves! The following are a variety of special plants, limited availability

Bletilla 'Penway Sunset' (Hardy ground orchid)

This is a lovely perennial for shade to partial shade. It's an easy orchid to grow in your garden so try something new.

1 rhizome—$15.00

Narcissus 'Erlicheer'

Yes, it's a daffodil but this one is different. The first year the bulb is planted, it blooms in the summer and it's very fragrant. In subsequent years, it will bloom in the spring.

5 bulbs—$4.00

Tigridia mixed colors

Gorgeous blooms in full sun or in a pot, the blooms are so distinctive. They get only 12—18" tall so you'll want to plant them where you'll easily see them.

Bag of 10 bulbs—$5.50

Beautiful Temptations, cont'd

We couldn't help ourselves! The following are a variety of special plants, limited availability

Tricyrtis 'Raspberry Mousse'

First we offer Tigridia, now we offer Tricyrtis! And both are gorgeous. This is a late summer bloomer, common name Toad Lily, that should be planted in the shade. This vigorous grower sports star-shaped petite, rich red-purple blooms. La-de-dah!

1 root—$10.00 each

Tritelia 'Queen Fabiola'

Did you notice? First we offered Tigridia, second offering was Tricyrtis, now it's Tritelia. Great names for great offerings! This is a lovely blue-mauve bloomer that appears in late spring, early summer, 15—20" tall and they will bloom for weeks and weeks before going dormant in the summer

25 bulbs—$6.50 per package

Tuberoses 'The Pearl'

What a lovely way to end our offerings. It is a double-flowered cultivar and has fragrant creamy-white flowers on tall stems above clumps of grass-like foliage. It's also a wonderful cut flower for your flower arrangements. Likes full sun, of course

5 bulbs - $5.00
