President's Message:

It has been 26 years since my partner and I bought our house in Corvallis. Little did I know that I would become a gardener. I was lucky in that I had a friend who referred me to a friend of hers who was a graduate of the landscape design program at OSU. She got me started on my gardening journey. I knew nothing about gardens since I had lived in apartments for 30 years as an adult. She designed a plan for the back yard the first year, the second year the front yard, and finally the side yards the third year. I have continued to consult her over the years when conditions and interests changed in our yard.

This year our beautiful flowering crab apple tree had grown enough to shade a previous vegetable garden area. Also, our 50-year-old Japanese maple tree was dying. Thanks to my designer, I now have a new shade garden plan to implement under the crab apple. I had the tree pruners take out the Japanese maple and grind the stump of the tree. I replaced this tree with dahlias since this area now has lots of sun.

Although I had never anticipated this new hobby, gardening has added so much joy, beauty, and good exercise to my life. Many of you have expressed similar sentiments. May we continue to learn, grow, experience, and share the gifts of beauty and delight our gardens provide us.

Nancy Haldeman

May Member Meeting

Speaker: Lawrence Birch These Are A Few Of My Favorite Herbs

As a gardener, herbalist and wildcrafter for nearly 40 years I have had the pleasure and privilege to get to know many different plants on a variety of levels from the medicinal to the spiritual, and from the nutritional to the esthetical. Join me on a fun and fascinating journey as we get to know a select handful of my favorite herbs.

I have been an organic gardener since I was eighteen. I have a BA in Painting from the University of Oregon. I completed an Introductory and Advanced Herbalism and Wildcrafting Apprenticeship, in 1991 and 1992, through Columbine School of Botanical Studies.

I founded my business GivingTree Farm Herb Company in 1993 which was also the year that I taught my first private herbalism workshop. In 1995 I was based at the H.J. Andrews Experimental Forest, in Blue River, Oregon where I worked as a Botanist Technician for OSU and the USFS on the Long-Term Ecosystem Project (LTEP).

I became a Certified Shamanic Practitioner in 1997 after studying with Alida Birch. In 2000 I completed a 500 hour Clinical Herbalism residency in Arizona from Michael Moore's Southwest School of Botanical Medicine and began my practice that same fall.

I have been an Instructor at several Oregon Community Colleges over the years beginning in 2005, offering classes in a variety of subjects: Herbalism, Fasting and Cleansing, Aromatherapy, Cooking, as well as Anatomy, Physiology and Pathology. Together with my mother I currently operate _Viewmont Gardens_, a seasonal Farm Stand in South Corvallis.

Plant Exchange

To everyone who wants to take part in the plant exchange, please bring one or two plants with an index card showing plant name, cultural needs (sun/shade, moisture needs, deer resistance, etc) and your name (if recipient has more questions about plant). If your plant is not taken please take it home with you.

Homegrown National Park

<https://corvalliseveninggardenclub.org/homegrown-national-park/>

Three Homegrown National Park Team members, Kris Anderson, Ruby Moon, and Adrienne Guy, shared the wonder of native plants with numerous community members at the Corvallis Sustainability Coalition's Sustainability Fair in March. Look for this same team at the Spring Garden Festival. Shout out to Jennifer Klammer working behind the scenes to grow native plants for us to give out at the Spring Garden Festival.

The Homegrown National Park Project hosted two workdays in April, and once again we were supported by the delightful students from the Medical Humanities Club at Oregon State University. A highlight was finishing planting all of Phase 2. Another highlight this month was interacting in the new garden with some of the clients served by Monarch on 4th.

In other news:

Cathy Kerr presented a project update to the Power of 100 People Who Care Corvallis, and received a few more donations from that generous local group.

Signe continues as our lead designer and guide to managing site challenges, and kindly and wisely responds to our innumerable questions. Thank you, Signe!

Interested in joining the Homegrown National Park Project? We invite you to bring your talents and action. We have lots of ideas to implement. Please email Kathy at Kathleen.chambliss@alumni.prescott.edu

To be part of this tour, gardens should be within five miles of downtown Corvallis, relatively level (accessible to people with walkers), large enough to accommodate up to 20 visitors at a time, and have some parking nearby. If your garden could be available for the 2026 tour, please send an email to Joyce Loper at loperj2@gmail.com

Minutes of the April 07, 2025 General Meeting of the Corvallis Evening Garden Club (EGC)

This in-person only regular meeting commenced at 7:00pm with EGC president Nancy Haldeman presiding. There were 62 participants in attendance.

During the business portion of the meeting, LeAnna Trosen and Roz Larson of the tours committee shared information regarding the upcoming tours. The tour schedule can be found in the April 2025 EGC Newsletter, and reminders will be sent out via Trumpetvine prior to the events. Members are encouraged to offer pop-up tours of their gardens, which can be announced on Trumpetvine.

Nancy Haldeman introduced the nominees for upcoming board positions: Al Shay, Nancy Mandel, Janet Magedanz, Cathy Kerr, Jane Helfen, Dave Mandel, and Becca Smith. Officer elections will take place at the May 05, 2025 regular meeting.

Marsha Ham and Christina Clark presented information on EGC grants. A motion was approved to fund 6 grants totaling $2747.91. The grants committee received 17 applications, and Friends of Benton Gardeners generously funded the remaining requests. An $800.00 anonymous donation was also received. Christina announced that the Friends of Benton Gardeners plant sale will take place on May 31, 2025 from 10:00am-2:00pm at Shepherd of the Valley Lutheran Church. See their Facebook page for more information.

Joyce Loper announced a Quilts in the Garden tour, which will take place in June of 2026. This is a collaboration between Mary's River Quilt Guild and Corvallis Modern Quilt Guild. The Guilds would like to partner with EGC, and need suggestions for gardens within 5 miles of Corvallis for possible inclusion on this tour.

Janet Magedanz shared that Trumpetvine is a Google Group. Please notify Janet if your email address is other than Gmail, as additional steps to join the group are needed. Kathleen Rochester noted that EGC members may post garden-related information on Trumpetvine.

Kory Coos, fundraising chair, brought samples of EGC-branded merchandise and explained the process for ordering. More information can be found in the April 2025 EGC Newsletter. Two raffle prizes were awarded, with funds going toward EGC grants.

Karen Hopson introduced our speaker, OSU's James Cassidy. James teaches several courses on soil and organic gardening, is a prolific speaker, OSU master gardener instructor, and has been the Faculty Advisor for the OSU Organic Growers Club for 25 years. James shared valuable information on soil pore size and formation, global soil regions, and the benefits of clay. He stressed that soil is a living thing(!) and provided ways to improve our soil. To support OSU student farming, please visit soilforward.org.

This meeting ended at 8:45pm
